

YES on Z

250 NEW JOBS

These 3 city council candidates support Measure Z.

VOTE FOR ALL 3

Don Chadd

Don is an expert in government finance. His experience as a high-ranking official running the facilities at a local school district is just what we need. Don has been recognized by his peers for cutting spending at a local water district. Don knows the 250 jobs from Measure Z are important to Rancho. The auto dealership has been closed for seven years. It's time for the property to get put to good use.

Laurie Biehl

Laurie is a successful businesswoman as a licensed court reporter in California, Illinois, and Texas. She has been active in Rancho for over 25 years. Laurie has thoroughly studied Measure Z and has concluded that without it the old Nissan dealership will sit vacant for many more years.

Councilman Jesse Petrilla

Councilman Petrilla was elected four years ago to bring jobs to Rancho. He's an officer in the National Guard and veteran of the war in Afghanistan. Jesse has evaluated Measure Z and is convinced it will help Rancho's finances and create jobs.

YES on Z

250 NEW JOBS

Measure Z turns the vacant Nissan dealership into a vibrant property for businesses like Five Guys, Coffee Bean & Tea Leaf, LA Fitness, Chipotle, Whole Foods, or Mother's Market.

1

250 New Jobs. The auto dealership has been closed for seven years. It's time for the property to get put to good use.

2

The recession changed the consumer's car buying habits. That's why the old dealership has been vacant for seven years. It's time to revitalize the property.

3

The city council majority is doing everything possible to defeat Measure Z – including filing a frivolous lawsuit with your tax dollars.
